Sea Turtles - it's sea turtle nesting season in Tulum from May-October! Females come ashore at night to lay their eggs. Usually we have around 35 nests! Turtles are creatures of habit, so we expect the same each year. If you are lucky enough to see one, please do not disturb her or get near her. It takes a large amount of energy for these lovely sea creatures to get out of the water and dig their nest. If you see a cordoned off patch on the beach, this means we have a nest. If you are lucky enough to see baby turtles hatch at night, we ask you to please turn off your lights as baby turtles are guided to the sea by the moonlight and might get lost and confused if they see other types of light. If they hatch during the day, we will call the biologists who will protect them until night when there are no birds and release them. Quintana Roo sea turtles are protected – help us protect the environment and these beautiful creatures.

Smoking - we are not a smoke free hotel but smoking is not allowed inside rooms.
